

Captive Coyote Puppy

A man who heard the sound of pitiful crying in a neighbor's yard rescued this coyote puppy. He looked over the fence and was shocked to see this little coyote puppy tied up with no food, water, or shade. Jumping over the fence, our rescuer cut the rope away from the puppy's neck, placed him in a box, and rushed him to the nearby park ranger station where he asked for help for the puppy. They immediately put a call in to us. After being given fluids and some food, the little puppy is now doing well and one day will be returned to the wild.
